In our last update I wrote about our commitment to 'follow the cloud' wherever God led us and to trust Him completely. At the end of that letter, I mentioned our readiness to follow the Lord to our next stop in England.

God had something else in mind.

We had our tickets and were ready to fly out on Sept. 1st, but less than a week before we left I consulted with a specialist about some of my test results and he urged me to get more testing without delay. We spent the next few days in earnest prayer and decided it was best to follow his advice and refund our tickets. My continued lung problem is something that should be addressed, and especially in the 'Year of Covid'. I trust that God has healing for me but I need to be doing my part and seeking for His provision.

As you know, getting a medical diagnosis and resulting treatment can be a process involving lots of moving parts and time. An immediate problem was where to work on this health issue. We had no home to go to. We were, as we have been these past 7 years, sojourners from place to place. We knew that we needed find a place and stay for a while.

After several weeks of surrender and prayer we believe God led us to Calgary, Canada, where our daughter lives. Calgary is very culturally diverse so we expect to find ways to share the Gospel while we are here. Our experience in working in many cultural settings will no doubt open doors for sharing God's truth.

With so many borders around the world still closed or again tightening restrictions due to the virus, we are very thankful to have access to Canada. (If you didn't know, the Canadian border is still restricted to most Americans.) Perhaps this is the reason that God led us to get our dual citizenship many years ago.

We believe this is God's provision in the midst of this very difficult year. In spirit we are very zealous to be about the ministry. In body, for the moment, my flesh is somewhat weak. Please pray that God will restore my strength soon and that He will continue to lead us to where we need to be.

Love In Christ,

Bro. Will
